Carmel Composer Completing Ballet For Fresno Performance

Carmel composer Elayne Lavrans, the wife of Roy Chanslor, is working on the music for the last part of an hour-long ballet which will be performed by the Fresno Youth Symphony Orchestra on December 3 and danced by over 200 pupils of Claire Lauche Porter, Fresno dancing teacher.

Paul Vermel, conductor of the Youth Symphony and the Fresno Symphony Orchestra, will direct Mrs. Chanslor's Ballet Peer Gynt. He and Claire Lauche Porter both have been here consulting with her on details of the ballet as she composed it during the past few months.

After the premiere of the ballet, the Fresno Symphony Guild is giving a reception to which they have invited Elayne Chanslor. Before the performance, Guild members will tape Mrs. Chanslor's music for presentation to pupils in the Fresno school system, so that students may compare her composition with Grieg's Peer Gynt music.

Mrs. Chanslor is doing all the orchestration for the ballet music that will be played by a full orchestra. She says members of the Youth Symphony are all talented young people living in the Fresno area, auditioned before they join the orchestra. Conductor Vermel will augment this group of youthful musicians with solo players from the Fresno Symphony Orchestra. However, Mrs. Chanslor reports that a young double bass player with the youth orchestra is so good that she has been able to compose solos especially for this instrument.

The ballet dancers, being trained by Claire Lauche Porter, will range in age from those who will be

Chitwood Trounces City Recreation Commission

The Recreation Commission, as presently constituted, does not serve the city, Councilman John Chitwood told other councilmen last night.

The commission was established to receive money for the Youth Center from the Carmel Unified School District and last week the school board refused to support the center, he added.

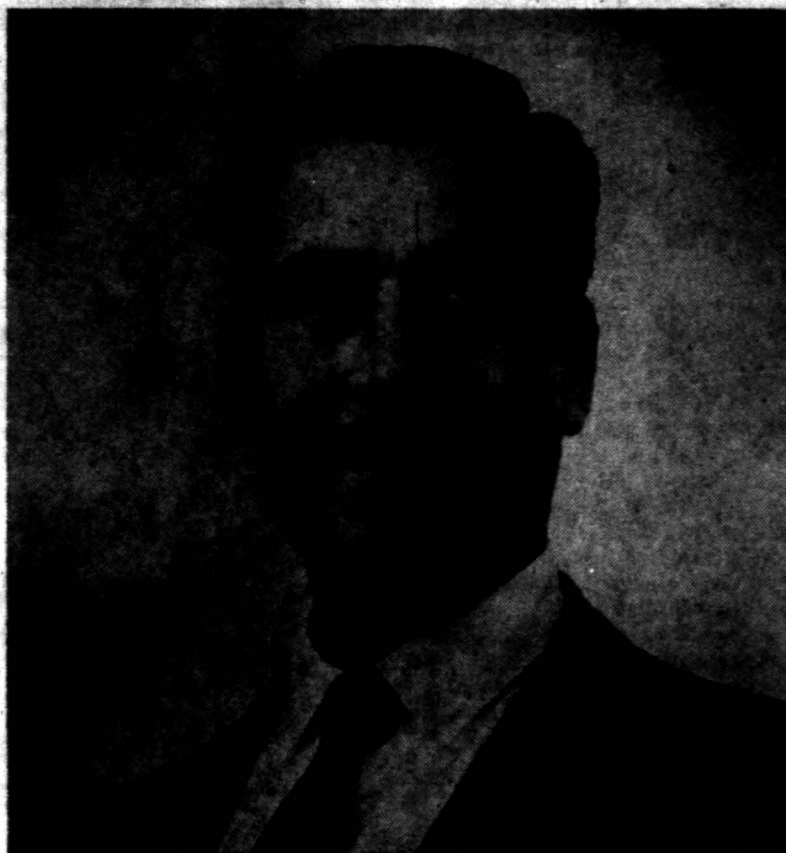

Mr. Chitwood also pointed out that one member of the city recreation commission (Mrs. Gyla Smith) also serves on the school district recreation committee and can vote twice on the same matter; another recreation commissioner was appointed by the school board.

"I request that some rectifying action be taken," Mr. Chitwood concluded.

Council Norberg after remarking that the city might still have some work for the recreation commission, remarked, "I do not want to kill the commission but I am not yearning to have it live."

"A man who takes the trouble to master two alien tongues increases his worth by two."

This is no Spanish proverb, at least not that we know of. It's simply the way Spanish instructor Robert Franco views and evaluates the study of language—any language.

In his sixth year of teaching at Carmel Adult School, which traditionally selects its teachers from the best available in their fields, Franco has sent many a student off to Central America or Spain for vacations which are made a hundred-fold more meaningful because the vacationer speaks the language and therefore has more understanding of the culture of the place he visits.

Council Specifies Regulations For Fallout Shelters

City councilmen last night dealt with national disaster measures; debated economics and esthetics of business district building sizes and site controls. They sent to the Planning Commission conditions for a use permit for All Saints' parochial school; adopted five ordinances; had first reading of a sixth; and acted on a dozen other matters during a three-hour session.

Youth Center Adult Board To Elect New Officers Wednesday

The adult board of the Carmel Youth Center will meet Wednesday afternoon, 4:30 o'clock at the Youth Center. This is the bi-monthly meeting, also the annual meeting when officers will be elected.

The 13 directors are: Mayor Frank Putnam, representing the city council; John Chitwood, police commissioner; Larry Rose, P-TA; Paul Artellan, American Legion; Jim Buffington, Carmel Business Association; Glen Sorey, Rotary; Mrs. D. G. Marshall, Monterey Peninsula Voluntary Services; George Dear, Lions Club; George Mosolf, representative of the School District Director of Athletics; Mrs. Ian Bellagie, Woman's Club; Bob Connell, Kiwanis; J. O. Handley, and P. A. McCreery, members at large. The latter is president of the board. Karen Hicks is secretary.

Family fall-out shelters in Carmel shall meet requirements of the National Department of Defense and the State of California Disaster Office, the council decided. This includes prefabricated shelters approved by these bodies. Construction regulations drawn up by the planning commission last week in regard to setbacks and shelter size in the residence district shall be observed. All shelter doors must open inwards freely and not be fastened by lock or key. Materials for shelters must be approved by the fire department and be non-combustible; sanitary facilities may not be connected to city sewers. The maximum occupancy of any shelter must be posted and lighting, heating or cooking facilities in shelters must be of types that do not exhaust the oxygen supply necessary for human survival. All shelters must be fully accessible from outdoors.

The city's jurisdiction during an emergency shall include territory from Pescadero Road south to the Carmel River; from Hatton Canyon west to the ocean, the council concluded. In order to accomplish this a joint powers agreement with Monterey County was proposed, to be accomplished by consultation between Carmel Civilian Defense director Frank Putnam, his assistant, Fire Chief Robert Smith, and the city attorney in conjunction with Carmel Unincorporated officials and Monterey County planning and administration officials.

Scholarship Carnival Saturday, Students Parade Town Tomorrow

Carmel High School's annual scholarship carnival festivities begin tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock with a parade. Students in costumes depicting the storybook carnival theme will meet at Sixth Avenue and Junipero Street then parade through the business district advertising Saturday's carnival, sponsored by the High School P-TA unit and Girls' League. All proceeds from the day-long event at the High School will be used to provide college scholarships for 1962 graduates. Last June nine seniors were awarded carnival scholarships at Carmel High School graduation exercises.

Two new features have been added to P-TA concessions this year. Pictures donated by local artists and valued at $200-$100 will be for sale at an art booth for $15. An artist-in-action will be at the booth, also a local cartoonist who will make profile sketches for a nominal fee. Vegetables and fruit, (Continued on Page Ten)

PADRES WIN DOUBLE-HEADER FROM GONZALES

CCAL B-League Standings

	W	L
Carmel	1	0
Pacific Grove	1	0
Gilroy	1	0
King City	1	0
Live Oak	0	1
San Lorenzo	0	1
Hollister	0	1

Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads packed too much power for the small Gonzales teams last Saturday afternoon and smashed to easy 12-0 wins in both tilts. With the win over the Spartans, Carmel joins Pacific Grove, Gilroy, and King City at the top of the B-league standings after the first week's league play. While Carmel and King City had easy going against Gonzales and Hollister, the Pacific Grove and Gilroy squads were pushed to the limit before topping Live Oak and San Lorenzo.

George Pollock and Steve Fairfield were the top ground gainers for Carmel in the win over Gonzales, both scoring six-pointers with slashing drives off-tackle. Pollock registered 92 yards against the stubborn Spartan defense with Fairfield driving for 88 yards.

After a scoreless first-half in which both teams probed for weak spots in the opponent's defense, the Padres found pay dirt in the second period when Pollock squirted through a hole at right tackle and rambled 16 yards for the touchdown.

Carmel's quarterback duo of Bob Palma and Dan Holman did an excellent job of engineering the Padre touchdown drives as they took advantage of the weak spots in the Spartan defense. While the Carmel offense was chewing up the turf for 287 yards, the sturdy defensive unit held the visitors to 89 yards on the ground and 32 yards in the air. Terence Tweedie was the top lineman for the Padres in this one, showing lots of drive and coming up with the big plays when they were needed. Dave Harris, Dick Loffelmacher, Jim Kelley, and Bob Albee also turned in fine performances for the Carmel defensive crew.

With the stands loaded with scouts from all-rival schools, the Padre junior-varsity played under wraps for most of the game, putting out just enough offense to notch a 12-0 victory. Cutting it a little fine, the Little Padres waited until the fourth quarter before putting anything on the scoreboard. The powerful Carmel defense had the little Gonzales team at its mercy and limited the valley lads to a total of 27 yards running and passing. A pass from quarterback Al Nishimura to Phil Zobel picked up a six-pointer for the Little Padres early in the fourth period and quarterback Bob Larson rambled 16 yards for touchdown number two just as the gun sounded to end the game.

Gary Mumford, Marlin Fluegge, Bob Larson, and Ralph Juarez supplied most of the running power for the Little Padres while the defensive work of Grant Pollock, Don Clark, Jim Markowitz, and Dave Preve served to shackle the Gonzales offense.

This Friday evening the Padres travel to Hollister for a pair of league jousts with the bulky Haybalers. The junior-varsity game is slated for a 6:00 o'clock kickoff with the varsity teams answering the whistle at 8:00 p.m.

CARMEL HIGH GRIDDERS AT HOLLISTER FRIDAY NIGHT

In search of two more league victories, Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads journey to Hollister Friday night to test the beefy Haybaler aggregations. Both games will match Carmel's superior speed with the size advantage enjoyed by the Hollister elephants. While Carmel was winning a pair from Gonzales last weekend, the Haybalers were receiving rough treatment from the strong King City squads. King City ran roughshod over both the Hollister junior-varsity and varsity teams, winning both games by comfortable margins.

Coach Dolph Casarino has equipped his Haybaler squads with the multiple offense, featuring reverses and tackle-trap plays. The Hollister teams have shunned the forward pass in their first two games, but in quarterback Ottmar the Haybaler varsity had one of the coolest passers in the league. If the game turns into an aerial display, Carmel's quarterback duo of Dan Holman and Bob Palma should prove a good match for the accurate-throwing Ottmar.

Coach Hadley Hicks figures to go with the same starters who turned in the win over Gonzales. Opening at the end spots will be Tony Belleci and Rick Shively; tackles, Pete Morse and Jim Kelley; guards, Dick Loffelmacher and Bob Albee; center, Dave Harris; quarterback, Bob Palma; halfbacks, George Pollock, Steve Fairfield, and Lee Oleson.

Fred Rainer's junior-varsity starters will be Phil Zobel and Al Tegtmeyer, ends; Bob Wells and Grant Pollock, tackles; Dave Preve and Jim Markowitz, guards; Bill Hill, center; Bob Larson, quarterback; and Marlin Fluegge, fullback.

While the Padres and Haybalers are mixing it up at Hollister, King City will be at Gilroy; Live Oak at Gonzales; and Pacific Grove at San Lorenzo.

MPC CLIPS VENTURA JC, 34 TO 14

Bouncing back from a disappointing performance against the College of Sequoias, Coach George

Porter's Monterey Peninsula College eleven journeyed to Ventura Saturday night and completely unhinged Ventura JC Pirates in a pre-league exhibition tilt. With backs Jerry Colletto, Dick Austin, Jerry Hatcher, Walt Bengie, Jim Dotson, and Skip Murry running wild whenever they took the ball, the Lobos were in front, 28 to 0, in the second period and had the game well under control at the end of the first half. Art On The Peninsula

An exhibition of oils and watercolors by Harry Timmins opens at the Laky Galleries, east side of San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, on Tuesday and will be displayed for two weeks.

A founder of the American Academy of Art, Mr. Timmins was for many years a commercial artist in Kansas City. Successively he lived in St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

He taught at the American Academy of Art in Chicago for five years. This school trains illustrators and art directors. In New York, for 12 years, Harry Timmins mainly was occupied with story illustration for national magazines.

Since moving to Los Angeles in 1942 he has devoted his talents to motion picture advertising media. He is an honorary life member of the Society of Illustrators.

His show at the Laky Galleries includes portraits in oil and landscapes of European and California scenes in both oil and watercolor.

An invitational preview and reception for Mr. Timmins on Monday precedes the public opening of the show.

The Hidden Village Art Galleries, 220 Olivier Street, Monterey, will have a one-man show of watercolors by Phyllis Moore Gallagher on display from October 9 to November 13. The gallery is open daily except Mondays from noon until 5:00 o'clock and again in the evening from 7:00 until midnight.

Eastern critics have described Phyllis Moore Gallagher's watercolor painting as representing a new method of translating thought into color and pattern without use of discernible forms.

Mrs. Gallagher was born in Washington, D. C., and was educated there and in France. She and her husband divide their time between homes in Washington and Nice on the Riviera.

She studied painting in Paris, the Corcoran School of Art, the Abbott School of Art and the American University of Art. She has exhibited in New York and has had one-man shows in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Paris.

Phyllis Moore Gallagher has written 14 novels, seven novelettes and many short stories for national magazines. A collection of her writing has been translated into French and her books and stories have been dramatized for motion picture and radio presentation. She is also a talented pianist who, as a child, played concerts in Boston and Washington.

"An hour's playing for a full orchestra is a lot of music," she comments. Scores for the various instruments are reproduced by a "ditto" machine.

The production of Ballet Peer Gynt with Mrs. Chanslor's music will be one of the concerts in the regular series of the Fresno orchestra. The ballet concert is the main fund-raising performance of the year.

Mrs. Chanslor was a student of David Alberto in Carmel before going to Los Angeles to study under composer Arnold Schoenberg. While working with Schoenberg she was awarded a four-year scholarship at the Curtis Institute for Music in Philadelphia. There she studied piano with Josef Hofmann and composition with Rosario Scalerio, Italian composer. She also spent six months in Italy working with Scalerio.

After graduating from Curtis Institute she married the late James Hopper of Carmel and returned here to teach.

Following her marriage to Roy Chanslor, novelist and movie and television script writer, she returned to musical composition. Her home is on Carmel Point.

A native Californian with Danish ancestry, she was born and grew up in Monterey. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson.

FIRE DEPARTMENT WATER FIGHT NEXT THURSDAY

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department will send a truck Saturday to the Fire Prevention Week kick-off parade in Seaside.

Next Thursday night, at 8:00 o'clock, firemen will have their annual water fight at the intersection of Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Street.

All week children in Carmel schools, kindergarten through second grade, will visit the fire house. Firemen will show them the premises, fire engines, fire-fighting equipment and how they answer an alarm.

Each child will leave with a plastic fire helmet, printed fire prevention material and Smokey the Bear and Sparky comics, gifts of the fire department.

Betsey Lull

Miss Betsey Lull, retired teacher and resident of Carmel for 22 years, died Tuesday in a local hospital following a short illness.

Miss Lull was born in Windsor, Vermont, on May 16, 1880. She retired in 1938 after teaching in several schools in California and came to live in Carmel the following year.

She was a member of the National Retired Teachers' Association and the Church of the Wayfarer.

A "shut in" because of a heart condition, she enriched her later years by sharpening her knowledge of Latin and Greek exploring the treasury of classic literature. She read German and French with ease and enjoyment, but the classics presented a challenge, which she met with zest in the long period of her retirement. Miss Lull set herself a goal of so many Latin and Greek books to read each year, meanwhile following world news in current monthly editions of French and German periodicals.

Her interest in youth was manifested in all her meetings with young people, both those whom she coached in languages for college entrance or children of her friends to whom she showed books from her extensive French and German library.

Miss Lull possessed the reticence of her New England breeding, charmingly combined with a quiet sense of humor. She constructed much of her home at Palou and Third with her own hands.

Survivors are a niece, Mrs. Barbara L. Rahm of Berkeley; a nephew, Arthur S. Lull of Oakland; also several nieces and nephews in the East.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, conducted funeral services this afternoon in Mission Mortuary. Inurnment was in the Little Chapel-by-the Sea.

Lt. Cmdr. Dancy

Lieutenant Commander Dan Albert Dancy, 43, seamanship instructor in the General Line and Naval Science School at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, died on September 28 in Oak Knoll U.S. Naval Hospital in Oakland, after a short illness.

Commander Dancy was born on July 3, 1918. He graduated from the California Maritime Academy in 1939 with a bachelor of science degree as a seamanship and navigation major. For the next two years he was an officer in the U.S. Merchant Marine in the Middle East. In 1941 he was commissioned as an ensign in the U.S. Navy. Following active World War II Navy duty, he attended the University of California during 1949-50, then came to the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School as a General Line School student and graduated qualified to command destroyers.

Following this tour of duty, Commander Dancy served at sea with the USN West Pacific Fleet Staff for two years before returning to the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School as an instructor. In 1957-58 he was gunnery officer on the aircraft carrier USS Princeton. Three years ago he was assigned to the faculty of the General Line and Naval Science School at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School.

Commander Dancy established his permanent home in Carmel in 1950 and his family remained here during his tours of sea duty. He served twice as scoutmaster of Carmel Boy Scout Troop 86 while stationed on the Peninsula.

He is survived by his wife, Janet, and six children, Christopher, 19, Catherine, 17, Alexander, 15, Craig, 13, Carolyn, 11, and Merle, five years old, all living in Carmel; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Dancy of San Diego and Carmel; also two brothers, John P. Dancy of San Diego and R. Emmitt Dancy of North Hollywood.

Private funeral services for Commander Dancy were held in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Friends wishing to honor his memory may do so in the form of donations to the American Cancer Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

Carmel Boys College Freshmen Edmund L. Decker is among 360 new students attending Lawrence College in Appleton, Wisconsin.

Kenneth Cassard Agle is one of 400 freshmen who entered Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, last month.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The first of the five October chamber concerts at the Nepenthe restaurant down the coast, two miles south of Big Sur, took place Sunday in an atmosphere that the cordial owners, Bill Fassett and his wife, have been able to achieve in the beautiful setting, artistically different from anywhere else. Not having been able to attend any of the Spring dates, the drive down on Sunday with my friend Marian Carter of Burlingame was most welcome. Six players constituted the ensemble, Raymond and Margaret Fabrizio, Robert Hughes, John Erickson, Ellen Desler, Sukey Barnhart and Gail Deny in a program of Vivaldi and Bach to which the well filled house listened intently. It was all worth going for and none of the players could have been spared from the group. Seldom can one hear a bassoon concerto. Its solemn voice is intriguing, and Robert Hughes carried off his part convincingly. Fabrizio, as always, was the brilliant flutist, distinguishing himself in Vivaldi's concerto for flute and strings. It drew an ovation. Margaret Fabrizio accomplished likewise in the concerto for harpsichord by Bach.

The next concert is a program of Baroque Duets and Arias to be played by Carol Bogard and Edgar Jones on October 13 at 4:30 and 8:30 o'clock, and on October 15 and 22 when the complete Violin and Harpsichord Sonatas of Bach will be given by now famous violinist David Abel and Margaret Fabrizio. The October series end on the 27 with Fujinami Midori in classic and modern Japanese Dances.

Church Women Seek School Clothing For Needy Children

Women's church organizations on the peninsula are getting well started on the national project of help for school children of needy areas of the world, with emphasis on the Caribbean peoples. Gifts will be brought to the United Church Women's observance of World Community Day, Friday, November 3, at St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Pacific Grove, beginning with 10:30 business session, followed by lunch and afternoon program.

School clothing of sturdy materials for boys and girls from five to eight years is wanted, and also school bags furnished with six pencils, 2 erasers, box crayons, 2 pads of paper, blunt-pointed scissors, small notebook if desired. Bags should be eight by twelve inches with flap fastened by snaps, and containing pocket four by six inches, and shoulder strap of the material about three feet long.

Girls' dresses should be simple, of suitable, attractive material plus two pairs of panties of unbleached muslin; boys' outfits of matching shirts and shorts—or contrasting if preferred. Hems should not be turned, to allow mothers to finish dresses the desired length. Good used clothes for smaller children are also acceptable. Sweaters and coats for older children, and pieces for refugee families are especially desired.

Relief clothing given in past years for this program has been generous and it is hoped this year's will equal the past. Some women's groups are making attractive school bags and allowing church school classes of children to fill them, with the supplies furnished only in part by the children.

German Consul Talks Tomorrow Night On East-West Tension

Dr. Franz Breer, German Consul General in San Francisco, will discuss Basic Aspects of East-West Tension tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel High School auditorium under the co-sponsorship of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula and the Carmel Adult School. The talk is open to the public without charge.

Dr. Breer, a native of Hamburg, received his doctorate degree in law from the University of Hamburg. He entered the German Foreign Service in 1935 and was assigned to missions in Belgrade, Estonia and Russia. During World War II he served from 1942-45 with the German Army on the Eastern front. He was captured by the Russians and spent ten years as a Soviet prisoner.

In 1935, he reentered foreign service and was German Foreign Office representative in Berlin before coming to San Francisco last year.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

There's them as thinks too much has been written about the last great war. . . . even so, when a good one comes tagging along, we buy it. Louis Snyder has done such a one. It is called The War, a Concise History, 1939-1945. The author is a professor of history at City College of New York and he has presented in one volume the history of the entire war from the events leading up to it right on to the final negotiations for peace and the settlement thereof. This is reliable history and great reporting. There are maps and there are photographs. World War II has been written in multiple volume works but this is the first readable one volume handling. There was a need for this one.

Another professor, Lewis Mumford, has a new book entitled The City in History. This is a history of the city from the era of the village to the present day concept of the world itself as one great city. The book has many photographs, even photographs of "cans of worms". Not easy reading, but rewarding, and especially for those who are interested in the past of urban living and wondering what the future will bring forth.

Fanny Kemble was a famous actress in her day, and for a time was married to Pierce Butler, a Georgia planter. She was shocked and revolted by life on a plantation and by the treatment of the colored people there. She kept a journal during the months she spent on the plantation and these entries and letters have been published under the title Journal of a Residence on a Georgian Plantation. It may be argued that these journals do not constitute an unbiased picture of slavery, but it cannot be denied that they are true for that particular plantation and period.

A gay book is Bishop's Wife—But Still Myself, by Cicely Williams. The jacket blurb describes it exactly when it says it is "the engaging story of a lively lady who is married to the Bishop of Leicester". Active in both mind and body, Mrs. Williams climbs mountains and engages in other active sports all the while fulfilling her role as the wife of a Bishop.

The story of Clara and Robert Schumann is told in Bertita Harding's book called Concerto, and their story is that of Johannes Brahms, for the three were such friends that to tell the story of one without the others is impossible.

It is a fact that this week we are so rich with goodies that it is difficult to know where and when to cease talking of them. We must mention What About Women? by John Henry Cutler, which gives the present status and history of women in this century. And Shepherds' Hotel by Nina Nelson is the story of that famous hotel in Cairo and the equally famous people who have stayed there.

And it was Francis Bacon who said that "Reading maketh a full man".

Glenn L. Morning of San Francisco today was named Christian Science Committee on Publication for Northern California.

Mr. Morning takes over the public information office that has been held for the past five years by John Martin Hoffman.

In his new post, Mr. Morning represents the Christian Science movement in dealing with the press, legislators, educators, and public officials. His office is at 210 Post Street, San Francisco.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Morning is a graduate of Drake University. He is a Christian Science teacher and practitioner. Prior to devoting his entire time to the public practice of Christian Science, he was active in the fields of music and education, as well as entertainment and concert production and management. He became an authorized teacher of Christian Science in 1958. He is a member of Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, San Francisco.

Wilderness Of The West

A monthly column
By C. Edward Graves
32—WILDERNESS VICTORY

Several times during the last few years this column has been devoted to a discussion of the Wilderness Bill in Congress. It has been considered the most important bill from the standpoint of wilderness conservation that Congress has had to vote on during the last half decade. It has had nationwide publicity in such magazines as Life, Saturday Evening Post and others. The only other equally important conservation issue was the bill to construct Echo Park Dam in Dinosaur National Monument in Utah. This was opposed strongly by all conservation organizations, since it would have violated a unit of our national park system. It was finally defeated in 1956 after an epic struggle.

I can now report a smashing conservation victory in the Senate in the passage of the Wilderness Bill on September 6. It is only half of the completed battle, because the bill is still to be considered in the House at the next session, but the final vote, 78-8, was so convincing that there is considerable optimism about the outcome in the House.

Senator Kuchel who was one of the main proponents of the bill has sent me copies of the Congressional Record with word-for-word reports on the debate on the bill. Many of the statements by senators are so illuminating that I am going to quote a few of them.

Senator Anderson of New Mexico, who had charge of the bill in his capacity as Chairman of the Senate Committee on the Interior, made the following statement: "There is virtually no change in the status quo of the areas to be handled under the Presidential recommendations procedure in the bill. The bill simply makes wilderness preservation a statutory directive and responsibility of the existing land-administering agency in its handling of already reserved lands. It does not set up any new agency or entirely new category of land classification". Yet in spite of this fact, well-known to the commercial users of the national forests, Senator Humphrey, the Democratic Whip of the Senate, said in an interview with a reporter of the N.Y. Times: "The abuse of this bill by the vested interests has been unbelievable".

Senator Kuchel, Republican Whip of the Senate, said: "In my judgment this bill is for the benefit of the people. It affects an extremely small portion of the public domain, for it deals with less than two percent of the total land area of the nation in federal ownership. It seeks to preserve before modern life would destroy it—a small segment in the pristine beauty with which the Almighty endowed the North American Continent in the beginning".

Senator Church of Idaho, keynote speaker at the last Democratic National Convention, said: "The great purpose of the Wilderness Bill is to set aside a reasonable part of the vanishing wilderness, to make certain that generations of Americans yet unborn will know what it is to experience life on undeveloped, unoccupied land in the same form and character as the Creator fashioned it. This is an experience we in the West can still know. The enactment of the bill will mean that our children will know it too."

Of the eight senators who voted against the bill, only three were from the West. All of the senators from the Pacific Coast states voted in favor of it. A civilization without wilderness is a civilization without roots. Spiritual values are the essence of wilderness. Overdevelopment destroys these values.

A one-man show for artist Joe Ataide will open at the Galerie de Tours, Lincoln and Ocean Avenues, Carmel, Saturday, October 7. A preview party, by invitation, will be held at the gallery tomorrow evening preceding the show. Regular gallery hours are from 12:00 to 5:00 daily, including Sunday. The gallery is closed Wednesday.

Joe Ataide was born in San Leandro. As a boy he became interested in drawing and cartooning in grade school. A cartoonist for the San Francisco Chronicle lived in the neighborhood and Joe was a frequent visitor to his studio to watch him at work. It was through him that young Ataide met Howard Brody, an art instructor, who further stimulated the boy's interest and eventually became his teacher.

While in high school Joe Ataide was also an accomplished athlete. It was natural then upon his induction into the Navy he emerged as a championship middleweight boxer. During his service years he saw action in the Pacific aboard an aircraft carrier.

When he received his discharge in 1945, he enrolled in the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland and went to work in earnest completing a five-year course in three years. He received his B.A. degree as well as a teaching certificate and accepted a position at Lassen Junior College. He also holds a degree from the University of California and an M.A. from the University of Washington.

Joe Ataide has also done private teaching, cartooning, and was the technical illustrator at Fort Ord for three years. His works have been shown at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Los Angeles County Museum, University of Washington Museum and the Albany, New York, Art Museum and many others. He has been accorded one-man shows in Seattle, Philadelphia, New York and at the University of Hawaii.

In regard to his work he says:

"My paintings are an honest expression of myself, good or bad. I don't try to create styles or fads. I experiment to find the best way to say what I want to say. It is not particularly what you do or how you do it, it's the end result that is important."

Mrs. Lindvall-Jane Reports On Salvador To Wayfarer Women

Mrs. Arthur Lindvall-Jane, to her friends in Monterey—home on leave from her mission station in El Salvador, gave the Wayfarer Women's Auxiliary a report on Tuesday afternoon of the people and life in that small Central American country. It is the most densely populated country in the western hemisphere, and has, perhaps the widest difference in living conditions in this half of the world.

Clad in the native Indian woman's dress but of finer material than the usual cotton, accompanying herself on her accordion, she sang, in English and then in Spanish, a favorite gospel song of the people of her mission area. The natives speak Spanish in addition to their native, tribal languages. The Lindvalls were at first assigned to Santa Ana but are now at San Salvador.

The poverty and low standard of living of most of the people is in sharp contrast to that of the rich, who are very rich and live in luxury comparable to that of any country. Thievery is very common, beggars throng the streets, and dire poverty is the lot of most of the natives. Religion is mostly a matter of observing feast days, processions to religious shrines, carrying lighted candles and gaining indulgences to expiate their sins. A positive moral life is almost beyond their comprehension, she said. For the most part they live one room to a family and are more than nine-tenths illiterate.

To better these conditions is the aim of Christian missions, and many of the Christian workers are themselves natives, trained in mission schools. Organized women's groups contribute from their scanty earnings to support this educational and character development work independent of aid from United States contributions. But the country has still a long way to go.

Dr. Olive Swezy read to the auxiliary a letter of thanks from the head of the orphanage for crippled children in Korea which receives clothing from a sewing group that meets weekly at the church. Mrs. L. J. Fletcher, the president, announced that October is the month for the Wayfarer women to visit the county hospital in Salinas with magazines, flowers, and cookies for the patients.

Party For MPC Foreign Students

Monterey Peninsula College students from 22 foreign countries were guests Saturday evening at a potluck supper at the college given by members of the Citizens' International Student Committee of Monterey Peninsula College. American food was provided by committee members and the two guests each they invited to meet the 50 students from abroad. Over 150 persons enjoyed the party which included dancing.

Tables were decorated by Mrs. Charles Trumbly and Mrs. Verna Davis. Mrs. Fletcher Dutton was in charge of food. Mrs. Howard F. Bruggeman, chairman of the citizens committee, welcomed the guests.

Many of the local persons invited to the affair by the committee asked foreign students to visit them in their homes. The 22 committee members hope to have many more such invitations this year so that foreign students may participate in American home life. The committee also appreciates gifts to foreign students of tickets for musical and other events when subscribers cannot use them. Mrs. Rosabelle Heymann, secretary of the committee, is the person to telephone at Monterey Peninsula College if persons wish to help the committee in this respect.

He has maintained a practice in Los Angeles since 1926 and is known for his adaptation of contemporary cosmopolitan principles of architecture to American usage.

He designed the Jack's Peak home of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blinks. Dr. Blinks is the head of Stanford University's Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove.

John Desch

John Michael Desch, retired freight and traffic counselor who had lived in Carmel for four years, died on Monday in his home at Guadalupe Street and Fifth Avenue. He had been in failing health for a long time.

Mr. Desch was born in Baltimore, Maryland, on June 13, 1883. A graduate of Calvert Hall in Baltimore, he came to live in California in 1906. Prior to his retirement seven years ago, Mr. Desch maintained his counseling business in San Francisco. He lived in Menlo Park before moving to Carmel.

An Eagle Scout, Mr. Desch was active in the Boy Scouts of America organization and followed this interest here until ill health caused him to relinquish such pursuits. He is survived by his wife, Alice Pierce Desch, of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with the Right Reverend Winfred H. Ziegler, retired Episcopal Bishop of Wyoming, officiating.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Why the healing law of God can be relied upon to overcome sin and sickness will be explained Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" Among the Scriptural selections to be read are these words of Isaiah (33): "For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us. . . . And the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (p. 381): "God is the law-maker, but He is not the author of barbarous codes. In infinite Life and Love there is no sickness, sin, nor death, and the Scriptures declare that we live, move, and have our being in the infinite God."

Godwins Go To Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Godwin and their daughter, Sheila, leave tomorrow by jet for Chicago. They will travel from there on a freighter through the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway to Montreal, Canada, then continue on the ship across the Atlantic to Rotterdam.

Paris will be their next stopping place. Then comes a motor tour of the French wine country in vintage time with visits at wayside inns as they drive their car south to the French Riviera.

The Godwins will spend some time in Genoa on their way to Rome where they have been granted an audience with Pope John XXIII in the Vatican.

Following this the Godwins will go to Naples to embark on an Italian liner for their return journey to the United States. Christmas will be spent on the ship before they reach New York. They expect to be back in their home in Pine Inn by the end of the first week in January. Mr. Godwin is the proprietor of Pine Inn.

A coffee hour will precede the meeting from 8:00 to 9:00 o'clock, and there will be a drawing for door prizes to be participated in by only those women who are in the hall when the meeting is called to order. All Republican women in the two counties are being invited.

Council Specifies Regulations For Fall-Out Shelters

(Continued from Page One). of public, commercial and other buildings that can be used as public shelters. Building Inspector Floyd Adams told the council he already has found 48 locations in the business district, four outside, that are "likely public shelter places."

A report from Mayor Putnam and Councilman Chitwood stated there was great need for a disaster control center in Carmel, also a group shelter. Last night the Mayor stated that he will appoint a committee of interested persons to work with City Clerk Larry Rose on this matter and report to the council before January 15. He also suggested federal financial aid should be sought for establishing the control center, possibly on city land fronting Junipero Street.

The council also decided last night to ask the Office of Civil Defense to install a bell and light warning system in the fire house as soon as possible at no expense to the city. Then the council turned to the economics and aesthetics of bulk and site control of business district development as suggested by the Citizens Committee.

Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Citizens Committee, urged the council to limit site size in the commercial zone to 8,000 square feet with buildings limited to 75 percent coverage of this site area. He maintained controls in the present zoning ordinance were not stringent enough to prevent building of 24,000 square foot motels or 31,000 square foot stores, as compared to average existing Ocean Avenue store areas of 3,000 square feet.

He also contended that the present ordinances tends to allow uniform sizes, signs and appearance in the business district.

"This will kill Carmel... make it like La Jolla or Laguna Beach," he said and added, "We must keep Carmel different."

Uniform appearance of business district development "Strikes at the heart and soul of Carmel," he continued.

Allowing large buildings means, Admiral Fisher declared, "Big businesses driving out smaller merchants." Small shops were part of the charm of Carmel he remarked in conclusion.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey said he had been concerned for some time about requirements in the zoning ordinance having a tendency to force small property owners into larger developments with offstreet parking and had considered a sliding scale relaxing setback requirements for smaller buildings and making such regulations on larger buildings more stringent. "This was not a satisfactory solution," he concluded. Councilman Francis Whitaker declared "I prefer the Plaza to the Doud Arcade." Mr. Chitwood said smaller businesses faced accessibility and parking problems and were forced into big developments "To stay alive."

Mayor Putnam referring to the city's parking problem, said, "Carmel is being strangled for lack of offstreet parking." He continued with the information that no city council or business group have ever solved this problem; four recent smaller buildings prove that owners must, as a matter of economics, use the maximum amount of shop and office space available on their site. This compounds the parking problem. A large building must provide parking or the developer will not be able to pay off his investment, he ended.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg launched into a lengthy dissertation on the unequal battle between "The Goliaths of bigger buildings against the Davids of smaller ones" and the loss of our basic freedoms and liberty guaranteed in 1776.

Mr. Norberg and Mr. Whittlesey voted no on the council's motion to uphold the planning commission in their decision that the present ordinance needs no further commercial building site and size controls.

The council adopted the planning commission's recommendation that fringe areas of the business district at some future date be considered for hotel and motel use alone; included these C-1-L areas in the general plan eliminating a lot on Junipero Street below Third Avenue.

The council sent to the board of adjustments recommendations that a use permit for All Saints' parochial school be limited to two academic years; pupils shall not exceed 50 in number; the school should only be operated five days a week with no summer sessions; the chief of police to work out traffic problems with the parish.

They passed the following ordinances: standards for curbs, gut-

Valley Man Injured In Car Collision

A Carmel Valley man received injuries yesterday afternoon in a five-car accident in Salinas. A driver of one of the cars also was from the Valley.

According to the California Highway Patrol report, Warren Kidder, Salinas, and Edwin Powers, Carmel Valley, both in pickups, collided in the intersection of Sanborn and East Market Streets. The right wheel of Powers' car climbed the left fender of a car belonging to Lawrence Listgate, Salinas, after having knocked another car driven by Loyd McDonald, Salinas, into a fifth car, driven by Richard Maddix, Salinas. The last three cars were waiting on Sanborn for a red light to change.

Frank Preve of Carmel Valley was injured but not hospitalized. He was a passenger in the Powers' car. Taken with minor injuries to the Salinas Valley Memorial Hospital by A-1 ambulance were Craig Kidder, three years old, and Warren Kidder, 31, driver of one of the pickups.

TINY DOGS BARK OUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

Two tiny Chihuahua dogs confined in a smoke-filled house yesterday afternoon "barked up a storm" resulting in a general fire alarm, according to the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department.

James Duncan, a water company man and sidewalks; signs over sidewalks; the zoning map and zoning classifications; design approval of floodlighting; and ten days' notice for public hearings. They had first reading of an ordinance prohibiting storage of materials on sidewalks.

Other matters included: approving a letter recommending Police Lieutenant William Ellis' attendance at the FBI academy; abandonment to Havasco Inc. of a portion of Third Avenue; no changes in the city code governing conditional uses in the business zone, but recommending periodical revision of these uses; approving painting and panelling for the City Hall Memorial Museum and a new door for the traffic bureau; removal of a directional sign arrow at Carpenter Street and Highway One; deciding not to mail individual notices of applications for use permits; approving four signs.

meter reader, heard the barking and saw smoke pouring from a house on the west side of Monte Verde Street between Twelfth and Thirteenth Avenues. He telephoned the police department which called out the fire department at 1:49 o'clock.

All three Carmel fire trucks and 19 men answered the general alarm and laid lines while Fire Chief Robert Smith entered the house despite frantic protests from the small dogs, one on a dresser, one on the floor. He traced the smoke to the kitchen.

Fredrick D. Colby, tenant of the house, had left a pot of food cooking on the stove. Firemen removed the pot and used their smoke ejector to clear the house owned by Mrs. Eva L. Whitthorne, and left the dogs in the house, a little less barking.

Electronic equipment in use at night between Salinas and Castroville by the Division of Highways is to establish precise controls for aerial photography mapping of the area, not to locate future highways.

All Carmel schools will begin civil defense drills in the near future, the school board decided last week.

Assistant superintendent, Wayne Greenfield, reported to the board on a CD procedure being worked out by the school system under which all students will be sent home ten minutes after a "yellow" alert.

Elementary and junior high students will be dispatched by bus on a CD bus schedule similar to the normal one, Greenfield said, and high school students will be sent by foot or private cars in a pattern still to be worked out.

At a PTA meeting September 19, parents and teachers heard the same plan outlined and passed a resolution "approving or supporting its Civil Defense Committee in whatever action it can take for the safety of our children in the event of nuclear attack or disaster."

The PTA also asked that the drills be tried out as soon as possible. Mrs. Warren Edwards is chairman of the Civil Defense Committee.

Town House Group Plan Castle Tour Also Armchair Trip

Travel, real and arm-chair, will be on the program of The Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday. Forty-one of the members are taking the chartered bus tour to Hearst Castle under the auspices of The Monterey Peninsula Senior Tours, Carmel Branch.

Via the magic of Panorama, the color-slide and record programs of the Columbia Record Club, other members will be able to travel to Japan with Edward R. Murrow, to the Soviet Union with Harrison Salisbury, and to France with Charles Boyer when they attend the regular 3:00 o'clock program, which will be followed by tea, to which all interested are invited.

On Monday, at noon, the monthly luncheon will be held at Town House, followed at 2:00 o'clock by the Book and Arts Society meeting.

Foreign Language Mastery Increases Worth Says Franco

in Spain, at the University of Mexico and at the University of California at Berkeley. He came to the Peninsula fifteen years ago to become one of the original staff members of the Spanish Department of the U.S. Army Language School.

"There's not much to say about my life," he says. "Teaching is my life. I enjoy it tremendously. My students and I plunge immediately into dialogue without using a text book. By building conversations we can explore tenses, genders and numbers.

"By hearing instead of reading we convey the meanings expressed by vocal inflections as well as the meanings in the words. I only speak English to pull them in off the water if they start to drift away."

Franco says he's found Carmelites usually perceptive as students, more than usually interested in learning more than just the language.

Some come to class, he's discovered, just because they're new to California and would like to be able to pronounce the Spanish place names in the state. They usually become increasingly interested and don't quit until they've mastered some conversational skill and learned something of Spanish culture.

An astute, well-informed, enthusiastic Peninsulite, Robert Franco has opinions on many things besides teaching.

On Latin America, for instance: "Mexico or any other country in Latin America would like to have a chance to grow without so much guidance from us. Charity can be injurious to national pride. If I help you and help you again, and then tell you how much I'm helping you, then I have destroyed any good will there might have been.

"The United States and Latin America will come to an adjustment in social and economic affairs, but it will not happen overnight and it certainly won't be accomplished with money alone."

On the differences between thinking here and in Mexico:

"Mexico has plenty of backward people, Indians illiterate even in their own dialects with substandard ways of life, primitives. But she has no shame about these people, doesn't try to hide them, makes no apology. On the other hand, we here are very self-conscious about our backward citizens. We spend a lot of time trying to explain them to the rest of the world. We also exhibit our racial and economic differences."

On being American:

"The real worth of a citizen is measurable by the amount of service he gives his community. We teach our children to be grateful they are living here, and that they must earn their right to be here by becoming useful to others."

Instructor Franco does quite a little himself in service to his community, not counting his Spanish classes. He has worked with the Cub Scouts ("But not as much as I'd like to") and is a representative for Del Rey Oaks on the Core committee of the Area Planning Commission.

A past president of the California Council for Adult Education, Central Coast Section, he now serves the group on its board of governors.

At the Language School he is course developer for the Spanish Department and co-author with Dr. Luis Vargas and Dr. Klaus Mueller of a textbook, Spanish for Secondary Schools, now being used by San Francisco schools on a pilot basis. Franco is also a member of the American Association of University Professors and of the Monterey Language Association.

His family in Del Rey Oaks includes Mrs. Franco (Martha), a San Franciscan by birth; a son, Robert (Koky), ten, and a daughter, Martha Elizabeth, six.

Koky and his sister speak fluent Spanish, of course, tutored in reading and writing Spanish by their mother. Spanish is spoken almost exclusively in the Franco home, their father says. "Sometimes it's hard on a youngster to be learning two languages when his playmates speak only one. But we tell them, 'Learn a second language and you will have the worth of two people. Then you can accomplish twice as much.'"

—Ray Penny.

P-TA BAKE SALE

The theme for this year's Carmel High School P-TA's Bake Sale at the Carnival, October 7 is "The Gingerbread House"—and all the cafeteria and solarium at the high school will reflect this atmosphere. The public is invited to come to the high school between the hours of 11:00 and 3:00 o'clock to attend this annual scholarship carnival. Especially attractive and busy will be the P-TA's Bake Sale which is held each year and a very popular feature in addition to the sale of cakes, pies, cookies, breads, and home-made candy will be "The Gingerbread House Tea Room"—where coffee and tea will be served as well as the many delicious desserts and breads from Carmel kitchens. "The Sugar Plum Tree" will sell home-made candy.

All who are contributing to the Bake Sale are asked to have their contributions at the cafeteria anytime after 8:00 o'clock the day of the Carnival—but preferably before 10:00 o'clock. Donations will be accepted any time during the Carnival, however.

For those who cannot contribute to the Garden Booth, or the Gift and Sewing Booth, but who can bake a cake or a pie—and who will help in this way toward the ultimate goal of scholarships for Carmel High School seniors,—your donations will be most gratefully accepted. (By order of the Health Department, no baked goods with cream or custard fillings may be sold.)

This year's Bake Sale chairman is Mrs. John Campbell, MAYfair 4-6953.

Council Rows Over UN Flag Flying

Last night Mayor Frank Putnam averted a city council verbal skirmish on the United Nations when a minor controversy arose over what flags the City of Carmel should officially fly on the flagpole in Devendorf Plaza.

Councilmen decided Police Chief Clyde Klauermann, assisted by the Fire Department when necessary, should raise each morning and lower each evening the United States national flag, the California State flag and the United Nations flag.

Mrs. Jean Chitwood, from the audience, asked the council to confine city flag flying to the Stars and Stripes, eliminate the yardarm for the other two flags. She found the UN flag "objectionable."

Councilman Gunnar Norberg made a motion to delete the United Nations flag from the city flag pole. There was no second to the motion.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey defended the UN as a body trying to provide survival of our way of life. He declared, "I am proud of the fact that the UN is given recognition by the city and want this recognition to continue."

Councilman John Chitwood agreed, with the reservation, "Although the UN is a complex organization it is the best hope we have."

Further remarks against the UN from Mr. Norberg were silenced when the Mayor reminded him the matter under discussion was flag flying.

"Where shall I get a California and UN flag?" Police Chief Klauermann asked the council. They assured him the city would supply them.

Only vote against the motion to fly the three flags came from Mr. Norberg... and the yardarm stays.
